

| Measure                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 2000                  | 2025                  | Change   |   |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|----------|---|
| Where International Students Sit in the Talent Pipeline                                                                                                                                                                                               |                       |                       |          |   |
| Enrolled in bachelor's programs                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 177,000               | 301,000               | +69.7%   | ▲ |
| Enrolled in master's programs                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 111,000               | 306,000               | +176%    | ▲ |
| Enrolled in doctoral programs                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 72,900                | 153,000               | +110%    | ▲ |
| Enrolled in professional programs                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 9,480                 | 16,300                | +72.4%   | ▲ |
| Enrolled in non-degree programs                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 34,400                | 37,800                | +9.77%   | ▲ |
| Participating in Optional Practical Training (OPT)                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 24,900                | 294,000               | +1,080%  | ▲ |
| International Talent in Research                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                       |                       |          |   |
| Temporary visa holder share of science postdocs                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 57.1%                 | 57.3% <sup>2024</sup> | +0.2 pp  | ▲ |
| Temporary visa holder share of engineering postdocs                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 67.7%                 | 68% <sup>2024</sup>   | +0.3 pp  | ▲ |
| Temporary visa holder share of health postdocs                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 47.1%                 | 55.7% <sup>2024</sup> | +8.6 pp  | ▲ |
| Temporary visa holder share of postdocs at FFRDCs*                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 58.6% <sup>2012</sup> | 55.4% <sup>2023</sup> | -3.2 pp  | ▼ |
| STEM Degree to STEM Job Conversion Rates                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                       |                       |          |   |
| Overall, average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 61.2% <sup>2003</sup> | 52.5% <sup>2023</sup> | -8.7 pp  | ▼ |
| Bachelor's STEM degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 53.8% <sup>2003</sup> | 44% <sup>2023</sup>   | -9.8 pp  | ▼ |
| Master's STEM degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 66.4% <sup>2003</sup> | 59.3% <sup>2023</sup> | -7.1 pp  | ▼ |
| Doctorate STEM degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 78.8% <sup>2003</sup> | 68.4% <sup>2023</sup> | -10.4 pp | ▼ |
| US-born, average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 26.7% <sup>2003</sup> | 31.9% <sup>2023</sup> | +5.2 pp  | ▲ |
| US-born bachelor's degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 25% <sup>2003</sup>   | 30.4% <sup>2023</sup> | +5.4 pp  | ▲ |
| US-born master's degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 27.7% <sup>2003</sup> | 32% <sup>2023</sup>   | +4.4 pp  | ▲ |
| US-born doctorate degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 52.3% <sup>2003</sup> | 56.7% <sup>2023</sup> | +4.4 pp  | ▲ |
| Foreign-born, average                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 40.8% <sup>2003</sup> | 46.6% <sup>2023</sup> | +5.8 pp  | ▲ |
| Foreign-born bachelor's degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 34.3% <sup>2003</sup> | 39.3% <sup>2023</sup> | +5.0 pp  | ▲ |
| Foreign-born master's degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 45% <sup>2003</sup>   | 50.9% <sup>2023</sup> | +6.0 pp  | ▲ |
| Foreign-born doctorate degree holders in STEM jobs                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 70.4% <sup>2003</sup> | 75.9% <sup>2023</sup> | +5.5 pp  | ▲ |
| Temporary-Visa Concentration by Occupation                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                       |                       |          |   |
| Computer and mathematical scientists                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 16.6% <sup>2017</sup> | 13.7% <sup>2023</sup> | -2.9 pp  | ▼ |
| Engineers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 11.2% <sup>2017</sup> | 8.93% <sup>2023</sup> | -2.2 pp  | ▼ |
| Biological and life scientists                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 17.2% <sup>2017</sup> | 13.7% <sup>2023</sup> | -3.5 pp  | ▼ |
| Physical scientists                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 11.3% <sup>2017</sup> | 9.39% <sup>2023</sup> | -1.9 pp  | ▼ |
| H-1B Employer Concentration                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                       |                       |          |   |
| Top 10 employers' share of H-1B approvals                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 55.2% <sup>2009</sup> | 51.5%                 | -3.8 pp  | ▼ |
| Largest riser — Google                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 2.18% <sup>2017</sup> | 8.34%                 | +6.2 pp  | ▲ |
| Second-largest riser — LTIMindtree                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 0% <sup>2017</sup>    | 3.29%                 | +3.3 pp  | ▲ |
| Largest faller — Cognizant                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 22.1% <sup>2017</sup> | 5.97%                 | -16.1 pp | ▼ |
| Second-largest faller — Infosys                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 10.7% <sup>2017</sup> | 4.37%                 | -6.4 pp  | ▼ |
| * FFRDCs = federally funded research and development centers.                                                                                                                                                                                         |                       |                       |          |   |
| Note: Historical comparisons use 2000 and 2025 observations. Superscript years mark rows with an earlier latest endpoint than 2025. Average rows are population-weighted across degree levels. Arrow colors indicate direction of change only. |                       |                       |          |   |
| Source: Derived from the current report Figures and Tables: Figures 3.01–3.06 and Tables 3.01–3.03.                                                                                                                                            |                       |                       |          |   |